WHO DO THEY THINK THEY ARE?

Q&A

Ethos: What kind of music do you play?

Noblehaus: Electronic music, as opposed to top 40 hits or something.

E: So when you say electronic, do you mean techno, dubstep, house music?

N: Mostly electrohouse and we do remixes of popular songs, but they are usually by house artists. Sometimes we can find the balance between top 40 stuff and electronic, and when we're in a good mood and just drunk enough, we play dubstep.

E: Hey, I love dubstep! Why did you guys pick the name Noblehaus?

N: Well we lived in Friley freshman and sophomore year, and our floor was Noble, which is the design learning community. I think the main reason is we already made shirts with the Noble house on it, which it's spelled differently, but we thought, "hey, free advertising." We don't know why it's spelled "aus."

E: Have you had any obstacles?

N: When we started it was kind of tough to get house parties and stuff. We had to actively ask people, "Do you wanna throw a house party?" We all live in an apartment so we can't throw parties there obviously. We have to use other people's places so we had to go around and ask people we knew who knew people and at that house they wanted us to play. But I feel like this year it's been a lot easier getting these opportunities, we started doing bars now and various random things would come up that made it a lot easier. The only obstacle of playing at bars is that we play earlier in the week, and nobody really goes. We do Wednesday nights at Sips 10-midnight so there's nobody there, and we can't play the music that we want to play, we have to play stuff that caters to the crowd.

E: Alright one more question, do you have any achievements or have you learned anything from being in your group?

N: Aside from all the technical and skillful type stuff, for DJing, apparently being nice guys is one of the biggest things you can do to promote yourselves. That's what a lot of people say to us, people tell us we're really down to earth, which I like to believe. We do this just to do it, we don't do it to make money. We have no goal for it, and all the money we do make we just use to buy more stuff to make it more fun. I think that's one of the biggest things, a lot of it is about knowing people and having good contacts at the bars and venues.
